Become a Member of FUSEE

If you have ever dreamed of a future society where people can stop fearing and “fighting” fire, and instead, learn how to live and work with fire - you are not alone! FUSEE is full of people just like you.

FUSEE is a nonprofit organization that promotes an alternative, holistic fire management paradigm. We do public education and policy advocacy in support of firefighter and community safety, ethical public service, wildlands protection, and ecological restoration.

You don't have to be a wildland firefighter to join FUSEE, just support the right of firefighters to work safely, ethically, and ecologically. Our members include: current, former, and retired firefighters; agency and academic scientists, researchers, and educators; rural residents, forest conservationists, and other concerned citizens who support our vision and mission.

Join FUSEE today and become a torchbearer for a new paradigm in fire management. Annual memberships help support our programs and projects. All members receive our E-newsletter, Spotfire! In celebration of the International Fire Ecology and Management Congress, special membership premiums are available while supplies last (see reverse).

Becoming a FUSEE member is easy! You can fill out an application form (see reverse) and pay by check, or go to our website to pay on-line by credit card.
